

No NGO briefings will be allowed during World Health Assembly this year.

No NGO briefings will be allowed during World Health Assembly this year. This decision by the WHO is very concerning as this cuts off the main way for civil society to communicate with the delegates of the member countries and present their ideas. Big Pharma at the same time will still hold their luxury pampering events at 5 star hotels where they have the opportunity to communicate their message to the delegates.

Sophie Bloemen