

Snooping CEO unveils conflicts of interest at the European Medicines Agency

Conflict of interest disclosure is essential if transparency is to be achieved.

Yet, recent research from Corporate Europe Observatory has revealed loopholes at the European Medicines Agency. The forms used to declare competing interests do not seem to be consistently interpreted by patient and consumer experts, generating some intriguing cases...

For more information, read the article.