

Ben Goldacre

Health Action International has a strong track record of taking an independent, evidence-based approach to improving evidence-based medicine.