Ben Goldacre

Health Action International has a strong track record of taking an independent, evidencebased approach to improving evidence-based medicine.