

PHILIPPINES

The pilot survey in the Philippines was conducted in June of 2002. The geographic regions included in the survey were the capital city Manila and three additional urban areas: Baguio, Legaspi, and Iloilo. Data were collected in two sectors only. The private for-profit sector survey included 77 facilities, while the public sector survey covered 25 outlets. All data are prices to patients. No procurement price data were available. No NGO facilities were surveyed as this sector was considered too small.
